timber blinds

Timber / Enviro venetian blinds bring warmth and style to your living environment, having fantastic insulation qualities whilst giving character to any room. Available in a range of painted and stained finishes to suit your interior decor. ☰

AMERICAN POPLAR

American Poplar timber is ideal for blinds and shutters, being neither too heavy nor too light, but still offering a reasonable amount of hardness, thus giving a good resistance to knocks and bumps. Stained or painted American Poplar slats are generally not susceptible to colour change to any great degree. American Poplar is grown as a plantation timber, managed for sustainability, ensuring an environmentally friendly and ongoing supply. Available in 50mm slat width, stained or painted finish with matching fascia and componentry.

EVOLUTION

A composite blind, environmentally friendly and ideal for damp or wet areas in your house, won't warp twist or bow like other natural timbers and comes in two fashionable colours to suit your décor. Utilises all the same componentry as the American Poplar blinds with slats that give that painted timber look.

FEATURES

- Classic natural stains or modern painted colours available
- Matching colour coordinated fascia to hide headrail
- Excellent insulation qualities
- Larger slat gives better light control
- UV coated slat
